

Exeter Hall - Kidlington

For members who have not been to any of the meetings held at Kidlington, some information about the location might be helpful to encourage you to attend.

Whether a new member or a member for a while you are all welcome to attend. It's a very friendly affair.

The facilities are very convenient adding to an enjoyable day. It is very spacious and airy with adequate seating and additional areas with tables for eating lunch.

Easy access from main roads

The address is: Exeter Hall, Oxford Road, Kidlington, Oxon, OX5 1AB.

The hall is located midway between London and Birmingham a short distance from the A44 or A34. It is two miles from Oxford Parkway Station. There are frequent services to and from Oxford and London Marylebone stations. A bus service from Parkway Station to Tesco Superstore, route 2A, takes 10 – 16 mins and it's a 6 minute walk from Tesco's to the hall. There are four buses between 09:00 – 10:00 on a Sunday morning.

Car parking is abundant and adjacent to the hall

The car park is now covered with a number plate recognition system, new in 2025. It's important to log your number plate details, to avoid parking charges for the day. There is a terminal inside the hall for you to do this. It's very simple to do and someone will be there to show you what to do.

There is level access into the hall, with a few steps down into the seating area.

The main entrance leads to the reception desk where you will collect your name badge and is also where the badges are left at the end of the day.

The seating is in a depressed area with the main stage on the right hand side, which is used for the plant show at the spring meeting. On the left hand side of the hall there are tables used for the sales tables. The tables used for lunch are located towards the back of the hall.

There is a sound system that amplifies the speakers voices so that the talk can be heard even at the rear of the hall.

There are plenty of breaks

Refreshments are included throughout the day, giving opportunities to catch up with friends and other likeminded people.
